AN ACT

TO AMEND SECTION 109 OF THE CIVIL CODE, 1930 EDITION.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of Puerto Rico:

Section 1.—Section 109 of the Civil Code, 1930 Edition, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 109.—If the divorced wife, in whose favor judgment was rendered, has not sufficient means of subsistence, the district court may allow her, in its discretion, an alimony out of the income, earnings, salary, or property of her divorced husband, which alimony shall not exceed one-fourth of the income, earnings, or salary received.

If the divorce was decreed on grounds of separation, the wife may apply for the alimony referred to in the preceding paragraph if she has not sufficient means of subsistence.

The alimony shall be revoked if it shall become unnecessary, or if the divorced wife contracts a second marriage, or if she lives in public concubinage or observes a licentious behavior."

Section 2.—All laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 3.—This Act, being of an urgent and necessary character, shall take effect immediately after its approval.

Approved, May 5, 1948.
